Greetings From PoJo

Welcome to PoJo's New Magazine!

I'm happy to announce that the No. 1 Pokémon Web site (www.pojo.com) has joined forces with H&S Media Inc. (the folks who publish Mary Beth's Bean Bag World Monthly, WOW Magazine, ECW, Core Sports, the Gold Collectors Series and other cool titles) to bring you the coolest Pokémon magazine around.

We have the most detailed and informative Pokémon trading card price guide that a Master could ever dream of! Brian Brokaw, author of the Pokémon Trading Card Game Player's Guide, and the utmost authority on collecting U.S. (English) and Japanese cards, helped us put together set lists and card prices that will make your mouth water!

We have full-color images of every U.S. Pokémon trading card available, including the hot new Fossil series. These images, along with our Strategy Tips, will help you create the best killer decks.

And, check out all the other Pokémon information inside the pages of this awesome magazine — a sneak preview of "Pokémon: The First Movie"; an exclusive report on Japan's Pokémon Center; Ask the Master; hot Japanese promo cards; Warner Bros. Studio Stores' Pokémon merchandise; video game reviews; cool products; Web site reviews; how to spot counterfeit cards; Killer Decks; the Topps cards, readers' Pokémon creations; and more.

Pew! You're going to need toothpicks to keep your eyes open if you expect to read this much information in one day!

Now we want to hear from you! Just like our Web site has always been your Web site, this is your magazine. We want lots of photos of you and all your cool Pokémon collections. We want the Pokémon pictures that you draw and letters that you write. We want to know what you like about the magazine and what you would do differently.

You can reach us via snail mail at: Pokémon, c/o H&S Media, 2121 Waukegan Road, Suite 120, Bannockburn, IL 60015 or contact us directly through our Web site (www.pojo.com).

And don't forget to visit our Web site often. The site contains card prices, breaking Pokémon news, cartoon information, playing tips for the trading card game and all the Nintendo games, and a whole lot more.

Master status is right around the corner for you!

The Poké Shoppe

Catch all these cool Pokémon products at major retailers and specialty stores!

For the Millennium

I Choose You Pikachu! is the first in a series of Hasbro's 2000 line of Pokémon electronic plush toys. Squeeze Pikachu's hand and he says his name. The more you play with him and activate the light sensor, the more talkative and excited he gets. Pikachu! even gives a gentle reminder when he's left alone for a few minutes.

Suggested retail: $24.99

Time for Pokémon

Blockbuster Video's exclusive Pokémon watch comes in various pocket monster styles, including Poliwhirl (pictured).

Suggested retail: $5.

Fight It Out

Two players can battle with more than 100 Pokémon in the Cyclone 2 game from Tiger Electronics. It comes with a built-in barcode reader, action buttons and an LCD screen. Each Pokémon has its own disk with all the important fighting stats encoded into the unit. Fight a computer opponent or link to another Cyclone 2 game.

Suggested retail: $19.99

Deal Me In

Play Pokémon Rummy with cards that feature 28 of your favorite pocket monsters. Set comes with 56 cards, Pokémon Rummy rules and carrying case. Also suitable for all card games. Made by United States Play Card Co. Suggested retail: $5.99

Picture This

This 35-mm Pokémon camera has Pikachu sculpted onto the casing — and provides a Pokémon border on every print. The Tiger Electronics camera accepts film up to 36 exposures, has a built-in flash and comes with a carrying strap. Suggested retail: $14.99

Take the Challenge

In Pokémon Challenge from Tiger Electronics, players choose Pokémon characters from the included disks and place one in each of the two tops. Then, use "turbo-launch" to start the action. The last top spinning wins the game. Suggested retail: $11.99

The Poké Scene

Enjoying the Pokémon Blitz?

By Catherine Buckley

Good! Because it's getting hotter and hotter!

There's no doubt Pokémon has become the hottest craze in the U.S. — it's even the sixth most-searched-for word on the Internet.

In fact, you can't go anywhere without seeing something Pokémon: trading game cards, movies, video games, comic books, toys, TV shows, backpacks, jewelry, books, lollipops....you name it. Nothing's been this hot since Ty Beanie Babies® hit town a few years ago.

But this time Japan is the fad leader, and Americans are just now catching up. Pokémon, introduced to Japan in 1996 by video game manufacturer, Nintendo, has seen $4.5 billion in merchandise sales in Japan so far.

While we refer to the characters as "Pokémon," the Japanese call them "Pocket Monsters" (written in English). Actually, Pokémon is supposed to be a contraction of "POCKET MONster." So far, 151 Pokémon have been introduced, with Pikachu clearly one of the most popular and best known.

We American Pokéfanatics may be two to three years behind our Japanese counterparts, but we're wasting no time in our attempt to "catch 'em all!" This year, Nintendo took Pokémon on a road tour that drew an average of 10,000 people to each mall visited.

And, if you think the Poké craze couldn't get any wilder, just wait.

Going Card Crazy

Kids (not to mention, many adults) are hooked like crazy on the trading game cards. Since they also include unique, artistic holofoil "chase cards," the cards have become collectible — putting them into the category of a CCG (collectible card game) or TCG (trading card game). That's why the artist's name is credited on each card.

The card game, which is directly modeled after the Nintendo video game, already has been banned in many schools. Despite all the other products, the cards and card game have become the focus of the Pokémon craze. Kids are waiting in lines Beanie Baby®-style to buy the booster packs. Meanwhile, the mass merchandisers (Toys "R" Us, Ka-Bee Toys, Target) can keep them stocked only for a couple of days after each shipment.

Though you may have just caught on to the Pokémon cards, they've been available since January 1999 in the U.S. Nintendo gave Wizards of the Coast of Renton, Washington, exclusive rights to print and distribute the Pokémon cards in America.

Must-Have Cards

- 1 Mew (all 5 Japanese)
- 2 Charizard (U.S. & Japanese)
- 3 Here Comes Team Rocket (Japanese)
- 4 Arcanine (Japanese, Gym 2)
- 5 Raichu (Japanese Base, Gym 2, Fossil)

PoJo's Top 10 Price Leaders (U.S. Basic/1st Edition)

1. Charizard	$85
2. Blastoise	$50
3. Raichu	$35
4. Venusaur	$35
5. Alakazam	$30
6. Mewtwo	$29
7. Zapdos	$28
8. Gyarados	$25
9. Poliwrath	$25
10. Clefairy	$24

They originally retailed for $2.99 for the 11-card "booster pack" or "expansion pack," with secondary pricing as high as $9. Recently, Wizards of the Coast raised its suggested retail price to $3.29 pack. Japanese packs generally cost $6-10, with individual cards going for up to $200 on the secondary market. Cards in highest demand are Charizard, Mew, Dragonite and Team Rocket.

(And Topps, long known for its sports trading cards, came out with a nonplayable, trading-only series of Pokémon cards last August. A second series is due out before Christmas.)

Just like publishers do with new book releases, the Wizards of the Coast's Pokémon cards are released with a first-edition printing. The first boxes of Pokémon booster packs (36 packs to a box) went for about $110. As of this writing, a factory-sealed box of 1st Edition cards is now selling on Internet auctions for more than $1,500! (Is there any doubt adults have discovered Pokémon?)

Meanwhile, cards continue to be introduced in Japan, where more than 500 million have been sold. Japan is on its fifth expansion (version 6) of the card game. Its previous card series consisted of the original version ("Base set" or "102 card version"), Jungle, Fossil, Rocket, Gym 1, and now Gym 2. In the U.S., we also started with the Base set, and are now on Jungle and Fossil.

Though most of the cards have been duplicated in both countries, Wizards of the Coast has made strategic changes for the American market.

For instance, while Japan went from 1 holofoil in every 3 packs to 1 in every pack with the introduction of Jungle, the American version of Jungle still maintains only a 1-in-3 chance for a holofoil.

Looking Ahead

So far, more than 70 companies are licensed to make Pokémon products in the U.S., and demand is keeping them all busy — the Pokémon Halloween costumes were "gotta-haves."

In Japan, there are more than 1,000 licensed Pokémon products and they're still going strong.

If Japan is any indication, expect to see Pokémon around for years to come in the U.S.!

Strategy Tips (Basis & Jungle)

- 1: Name of featured Pokémon.
- 2: Hit points (HP) amount of damage this Pokémon can take before its knocked out.
- 3: Pokémon type: Grass, Fire, Water, Lightning, Psychic, Fighting, Colorless.
- 4: Pokémon data: type of Pokémon, length and weight.
- 5: Attack damage: damage that an attack does to opponent's Pokémon.
- 6: Retreat cost: energy this Pokémon must discard to retreat.
- 7: Rarity symbol: indicates card's rarity—circle for common, diamond for uncommon and star for rare.
- 8: Number: Card number and number of cards in set.
- 9: Level: Level and monster numbers.

- 10: Resistance: Pokémon takes less damage when attacked.
- 11: Attack Name: Name of the attack and whether it has additional effects.
- 12: Illustrator: the card's artist.
- 13: Flavor text: background information on this Pokémon.
- 14: Weakness: doubles damage when attacked by certain type of Pokémon.
- 15: Attack cost: amount and type of energy that needs to be attached to this Pokémon to use an attack.
- 16: Pokémon power: This Pokémon's special abilities (if any).
- 17: First-edition symbol (if this area is blank, the card is an Unlimited Edition).
- 18: Evolution stage: current stage and from what this Pokémon evolved (pictured).

1

Alakazam

80 HP

Type: Rare H

Legend

- H = Holofoil
- R = Rare
- UN = Uncommon
- C = Common

Strategy Tip

That Damage Swap power is incredibly useful, and the sci-fi Confuse Ray actually works. He's a little fragile for a stage 2, but he's a must-have in a Psychic deck.

2

Blastoise

100 HP

Type: Rare H

Strategy Tip

Rain Dance is incredibly powerful. Blastoise is one of the most powerful cards in the game!.

3

Chansey

120 HP

Type: R

Strategy Tip

One of the best stallers in the game. A 120 HP is the highest of any Basic Pokémon. Combine Chansey with Alakazam and move the damage to Chansey.

4

Charizard

120 HP

Type: Rare H

Strategy Tip

Is he worth all the money and hype? Well, he is about the coolest looking card, and kids love big creatures, but there aren't "tourney-winning" decks designed around this bad boy. Yet.

5

Clefairy

40 HP

Type: Rare H

6

Gyarados

100 HP

Type: Rare H

Strategy Tip

Isn't a Metronome that musical time-keeping thing that swings from side to side? Here, it's a major attack that comes at high cost (3 energy). Tough pull from packs, too.

7

Hitmonchan

70 HP

Type: Rare H

8

Machamp

100 HP

Type: Rare H

Strategy Tip

Many people think Hitmonchan is the best Pokémon in the Basic set. High HP and major damage dealing.

Strategy Tip

Is Machamp the champ? Not really. But Strikes Back is the best revenge power out there, and you can't argue with 100 HP. But Mr. Mime eats him alive.

9

Magneton

60 HP

Type: Rare H

Legend

H = Hololo
R = Rare
UN = Uncommon
C = Common

Strategy Tip

The sacrificial lamb of stage-two Pokémon, thanks to its daffy Self-Destruct attack. Put it out there, let it do its thing to the other guy's bench, then give him a decent burial.

10

Mewtwo

60 HP

Type: Rare H

Strategy Tip

A great wall. If you want to win by running your opponent out of cards, then Mewtwo is fantastic!

11

Nidoking

90 HP

Type: Rare H

Strategy Tip

Looks mean and plays soft, thanks to weak attacks and middling Hit Power. Maybe pro wrestling can use him.

12

Ninetales

80 HP

Type: Rare H

Strategy Tip

Stay away from the tails, bud! You want us to get cursed for 1,000 years? Smart players can make something of the Lure attack, and everyone knows what to do with Fire Blast.

13

Poliwrath

90 HP

Type: Rare H

Strategy Tip

Build up the Water energy on this guy, then hand him the Water Gun and turn him loose. Holy Super Soaker, Batman!

14

Raichu

Type: Rare H

Strategy Tip

Thunder is sort of scary with Raichu—but, who isn't scared of Thunder? Agility plus 80 Hit Power make him a tough stage-one..

15

Venusaur

100 HP

Type: Rare H

Strategy Tip

The main reason to use Venusaur is for the Pokémons Power. Energy Trans lets you move all your energy around to different Pokémons, even different colored Pokémons. Wow!

16

Zapdos

90 HP

Type: Rare H

Strategy Tip

The attacks seem powerful, but four Energy? Nope. Energy Removal does this bird in. Better as a wall than as an attacker.

17

Beedrill

80 HP

Type: R

Legend

H = Holofoil
 R = Rare
 UN = Uncommon
 C = Common

Strategy Tip

No retreat cost, two solid attacks (especially if you remembered to bring the two-headed coins) and not a can of Raid to be found. Great in plant decks.

18

Dragonair

80 HP

Type: R

Strategy Tip

Hyperbeam is incredibly powerful, but energy intensive. Some players run this colorless line in their Haymaker decks.

19

Dugtrio

70 HP

Type: R

Strategy Tip

Darn, no Mud Slap! Slash is cool, Earthquake is chancy, but 70 HP is too low for a stage-one. You're almost better flinging Dilettants at the enemy.

20

Electabuzz

70 HP

Type: R

Strategy Tip

Don't stick your finger in his outlet. Thundershock does 10 damage with a paralysis chance, Thunderpunch goes for 30+, and 70 HP is just excellent.

21

Electrode

80 HP

Type: R

Strategy Tip

Forget the Jungle Electrode—this is the one to have. His Buzzap transformation power is invaluable. Don't make a Lightning deck without this chap.

22

Pidgeotto

60 HP

Type: R

Strategy Tip

A Mirror Move with Pidgeotto? Cool. How about resistance to Earth Pokémons? Swell. And everything else? Weak.

23

Arcanine

100 HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

This dog'll hunt. Real simple: Arcanine will kill any plant Pokémons in one move. Four Growlithes and three or four of these are tough to beat.

24

Charmeleon

80 HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

Eighty Hit Points make him a tough takeout, but he needs a lot of energy to deliver best results. His best is real good, though.

25

Dewgong

80 HP

Type: UN

Legend

H = Holofoil
 R = Rare
 UN = Uncommon
 C = Common

Strategy Tip

Incredibly powerful attacks. We prefer Gyarados to Dewgong in water decks. However, Dewgong is no slouch.

26

Dratini

40 HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

Wimpy basic Pokémon worth having solely because it maintains its resistance to Psychic Pokémon while evolving into Dragonair. Oh, and it's cute, too!

27

Farfetch'd

50 HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

A favorite amongst the elite players. 50 HP is great for a colorless Pokémon. Resistance to fighting and great attacks. A staple in Haymaker decks. Uncommon, too!

28

Growlithe

60 HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

Puppy Pokémon? Oh, well. Keep a litter around, have 'em pound the Puppy Chow, and evolve them into Growlithes as soon as possible.

29

Haunter

60 HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

Pojo loves Ghost Pokémon. But honestly, this level 22 Haunter card is just plain horrible—for collecting only. Dream Eater will work only 25 percent of the time. Yuck!

30

Ivysaur

60 HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

A key card in a plant-based deck, but most players can do better than 60 HP and moderate damage infliction for a stage-one Pokémon. Vine Whip is a decent attack.

31

Jynx

70 HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

Better have three or four of these in your Psychic deck. Meditate is great when you're going in for the kill, and Doubleslap's not a bad basic attack.

32

Kadabra

60 HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

Good for heavy attacks, since his Recover power makes his wimpy 60 HP seem more robust. Used in some anti-Haymaker decks.

33

Kakuna

80 HP

Type: UN

Legend

H = Holofoil
 R = Rare
 UN = Uncommon
 C = Common

Strategy Tip

You'd better be good at tossing heads. Kakuna's 80 Hit Power is solid, but there are no attacks to speak of.

34

Machoke

80 HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

You can take out some people with Karate Chop and Submission. But you'd better do it quickly. HP piles up quickly on Machoke.

35

Magikarp

30 HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

Players beware! Magikarp is a bench player with terrible Hit Power. In other words, thank goodness for evolution.

36

Magmar

50 HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

A basic with a powerful second attack. Relatively low HP and Flamethrower discard attack keep him out of many decks.

37

Nidorino

60 HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

Double Kick and Horn Drill inflict damage. But the 60 Hit Power and weakness to Psychic attacks temper his power.

38

Poliwhirl

60 HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

This is a solid stage-one Water Pokémon with some useful powers. Amnesia works great against one-power defenders.

39

Porygon

30 HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

Is this an Origami Pokémon or what? Conversion can work to your advantage sometimes, but the 30 HP is too low.

40

Raticate

60 HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

Ooo...Super Fang is nice! Unfortunately, you have to put up with 60HP to get it. Not a current fave in any of the Big Three decks, but it has potential.

41

Seel

60 HP

Type: UN

Legend

- H = Holofoil
R = Rare
UN = Uncommon
C = Common

42

Wartortle

70 HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

Eventually, Seel will be Dewgong. And 60 Hit Power is decent for a basic. Hey—we all know you can't hurry evolution.

Strategy Tip

Bite is so-so, but his Withdraw is great. Wartortle not only is another Rain Dance staple, but also a really good Water Pokémon.

43

Abra

30 HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

A silly little basic mindreader, but still a good benchwarmer for Psychic decks. That's because he evolves into Kadabra.

44

Bulbasaur

40 HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Leech Seed can be a powerful attack. For two green energy, you net a 30 damage advantage. And the evolution line is fairly powerful.

45

Caterpie

40 HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Caterpie is a good first attacker in a grass deck, as paralysis is a nasty side effect.

46

Charmander

50 HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Charmander's entire evolution is essentially colorless, and can be added to any deck.

47

Diglett

30 HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Mud Slap is a solid attack for a basic Pokémon. Hit Points are weak, but some players love throwing these things at the enemy.

48

Doduo

50 HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Resistance to fighting, free retreat cost and 50 HP. Not a bad Basic Pokémon here.

49

Drowzee

50 HP

Type: C

Legend

H = Holofoil
R = Rare
UN = Uncommon
C = Common

Strategy Tip

Tapir Pokémon? Koffing gives you more flexibility and higher Hit Power while inflicting the same types of damage.

50

Gastly

30 HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

This level 08 Gastly probably is the worst card in this entire set! After all the coin flipping sleep requires, the odds are against you! A stronger Gastly exists in future sets.

51

Koffing

50 HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Koffing's Foul Gas can provide a no-lose attack. And the 50 Hit Power is all right for a basic Pokémon.

52

Machop

50 HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

You move a pawn in chess—in Pokémon you roll out Machop. Retreat cost of 1, attack cost of 1 and 50 HP make it one of the best-starting Pokémon.

53

Magnemite

40 HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Magnemite is the Death Wish Pokémon. Why? Because it does loads of damage at the ultimate cost.

54

Metapod

70 HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

This Pokémon is a stage-one evolution of Caterpie—and with the same substantial limitations.

55

Nidoran (male)

40 HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

As with Machamp, you'll discover that this is a decent starting Pokémon—thanks to its Horn Hazard attack.

56

Onix

90 HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

90 HP for a basic? It comes at a cost: retreat cost is high and Rock Throw isn't exactly a killer attack. On the other hand, Harden can keep him out there a while.

57

Pidgey

40 HP

Legend

H = Holofoil
 R = Rare
 UN = Uncommon
 C = Common

Strategy Tip

Though it has miserable attack traits, Pidgey's strong resistance to Earth Pokémon makes it play stronger than it looks.

58

Pikachu

40 HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

This is a good basic Pokémon. And, as we all know, this popular Pokémon is just as cute as can be!

59

Poliwag

40 HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

The building block of many good Water decks, with a minor-league but still effective Water Gun attack and acceptable Hit Power.

60

Ponyta

40 HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

For a mere two Fire Energy you can suck 30 HP from your opponent (60 if a Plant Pokémon) and it costs just one Double Colorless for a 20 move.

61

Rattata

30 HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

This Pokémon has bite. Unfortunately, though, its 30 Hit Power restricts it to the bench more often than not.

62

Sandshrew

40 HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Useful against Lightning decks, otherwise mostly not useful—even on the bench. Sand attack is one of the wimpier moves out there.

63

Squirtle

40 HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Blastoise has to come from somewhere. Withdraw works here, too. The best Water decks are full of Squirtle.

64

Starmie

60 HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Starmie is an excellent defensive Pokémon, thanks to 60 HP and a solid Recover power. Star Freeze doesn't deliver much for what you spend.

65

Staryu

40 HP

Legend

H = Holofoil
 R = Rare
 UN = Uncommon
 C = Common

Strategy Tip

Star you? Star me? The bottom line with this Pokémon? You'll find that Slap is a cheap basic attack.

Type: C

66

Tangela

50 HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

You'll get solid attacks with Tangela. However, the attacks probably cost way too much for what they deliver.

67

Voltorb

40 HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

This is a good bench Pokémon because of what it becomes (Electrode)—not what it is (a basic Pokémon wimp).

68

Vulpix

50 HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Confuse Ray is expensive. Solid HP brings it into consideration, but it's useful only if you know what to do with Ninetails.

69

Weedle

40 HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Weedle Poison is a nasty side effect in the early game, and a surprise tactic in the later game.

70

Clefairy Doll

10 HP

Type: R

Strategy Tip

What can you do with this little doll? Try using it to soak up a few Hit Power while you are regrouping.

71

Computer Search

Type: R

Strategy Tip

Computer Search is a useful card because it helps you to tailor your hand to the opposition that you're facing.

72

Devolution Spray

Type: R

Strategy Tip

A last-ditch tactical card you should use only when you have a powerful stage-one or stage-two Pokémons in imminent danger. Easy pull from packs.

73 Impostor Professor Oak

Legend

H = Holofoil
R = Rare
UN = Uncommon
C = Common

Type: R

Strategy Tip

Play it when you think your opponent has his hand and his attacks all set. Watch his face for signs of confidence, then...ZINGGGGG!

74 Item Finder

Type: R

Strategy Tip

One in your deck is great for finding the perfect card in the late game.

75 Lass

Type: R

Strategy Tip

Do you want to see the other player's hand? The Lass Trainer card will provide the opportunity. But use it sparingly.

76 Pokémon Breeder

Type: R

Strategy Tip

This card is essential in the Blastoise Rain Dance deck.

77

Pokémon Trainer

Type: R

Strategy Tip

Not as useful as some Trainer cards, but it's not without value. Use it when you have a specific strategy and don't mind tipping off your opponent.

78

Scoop Up

Type: R

Strategy Tip

Do you want to get your Weedle off the table? You can do it with this card. But Scoop Up isn't as useful as other Trainer cards.

79

Super Energy Removal

Type: R

Strategy Tip

Short-circuit a Zapdos. Dry out a Poliwrath. You can get your opponent really, really angry by using the Super Energy Removal.

80

Defender

Type: R

Strategy Tip

Use this Defender Trainer card to augment the Hit Power of your high-powered, low Hit Power attack cards.

81

Energy Retrieval

Type: UN

Legend

H = Holofoil
 R = Rare
 UN = Uncommon
 C = Common

Strategy Tip

Trade a Devolution Spray for up to two Energy cards from the discard pile? Yahoo! Yes, that definitely works.

82

Full Heal

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

Full Heal to the rescue—and just in time! You'll get well in a hurry. So, this card obviously is essential to have in multiples.

83

Maintenance

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

Here's how it always works: You shuffle in a Magikarp and a Clefairy Doll and get...Magikarp. Ugh!

84

PlusPower

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

Make wimps into semi-wimps. This card makes powerhouses into untouchables. It's amazing what 10 extra damage can do.

85

Pokémon Center

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

"Remove all damage counters from all of your own Pokémon with damage counters on them, then..."
Enough said—get well slowly.

86

Pokémon Flute

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

This is an odd, unessential escape card that does not help as much as many of the other Trainer cards.

87

Pokédex

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

You can start planning your future with this Trainer card. It's useful when you're in a long, tough game and need to plan ahead.

88

Professor Oak

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

Need a fresh start? Then, Professor Oak can help. Consider playing this card when you're really hurting and want to start anew.

89

Revive

Type: UN

Legend

H = Holofoil
 R = Rare
 UN = Uncommon
 C = Common

Strategy Tip

Useful only if you have dead Pokémon you want revived and a spot on the bench. This card provides a good late-game move.

90

Super Potion

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

The Super Potion Trainer card offers a fair trade—assuming that you're high on both energy and damage.

91

Bill

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Trainer Bill is always good news for Pokémon players. What? Draw two cards? Anytime, Bill, anytime!

92

Energy Removal

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Although this card doesn't get your opponent as mad as a Super Energy Removal card, does, it'll get him or her angry enough.

93

Gust of Wind

Type: C

Strategy Tip

A very useful card. Blow in a low HP Pokémon from your opponent's bench for a light snack.

94

Potion

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Like the name implies, it's not as good as having a Super Potion card. This card is less expensive but less powerful.

95

Switch

Type: C

Strategy Tip

This Trainer card is Gust of Wind in reverse. That's not good if your bench consists of Magikarp, Caterpie and Porygon.

96

Double Colorless Energy

Type: UC

Strategy Tip

A commonly misunderstood card. You can only have four or fewer of these in your deck because they're not basic energy. A great card for colorless attacks.

97Fighting Energy

Type: C

Legend

H = Holofoil
 R = Rare
 UN = Uncommon
 C = Common

Strategy Tip

Again, the number of these Energy cards that you have in your hand depends on the strategy that you're playing.

98Fire Energy

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Energy card—the number of them that you have in your hand depends on the strategy that you are playing.

99Grass Energy

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Energy card—the number of them that you have in your hand depends on the strategy that you are playing.

100Lightning Energy

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Energy card—the number of them that you have in your hand depends on the strategy that you are playing.

101

Psychic Energy

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Energy card—the number of them that you have in your hand depends on the strategy that you are playing.

102

Water Energy

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Energy card—the number of them that you have in your hand depends on the strategy that you are playing.

1

Clefable

70 HP

Type: H

Legend

H = Holofoil
 R = Rare
 UN = Uncommon
 C = Common

2

Electrode

90 HP

Type: H

Strategy Tip

The Jungle evolution of Clefairy has all the good stuff of Clefairy—the Metronome attack mainly—with higher HP and lower energy requirements for the Metronome.

3

Flareon

70HP

Type: H

Strategy Tip

Love that Flamethrower! There's only one retreat cost, and really solid if happen to have a Dodrio on the bench.

4

Jolteon

70HP

Type: H

Strategy Tip

Jolteon does really well in a Lightning deck—so well, in fact, that you'll undoubtedly want multiples of this card.

5

Kangaskhan

90HP

Type: H

Strategy Tip

Did someone say "Genghis Khan?" Kangaskhan is a great stalker, giving you extra cards in order to fill your hand.

6

Mr. Mime

40HP

Type: H

Strategy Tip

An absolute knockout cleanup hitter. Bring him off the bench until your opponent has a more powerful but damaged Pokémon with no move below 30.

7

Nidoqueen

90HP

Type: H

Strategy Tip

Boyfriends require having Nidoqueen around. Not always smart—Mega Punch is expensive and retreat cost is high. Great potential for inflicting damage on you.

8

Pidgeot

80HP

Type: H

Strategy Tip

Hurricane can win you the game if your opponent has only Pokémon in play.

9

Pinsir

60HP

Type: H

Legend

H = Holofoil
 R = Rare
 UN = Uncommon
 C = Common

10

Scyther

70HP

Type: H

Strategy Tip

A very nice combination of strong (but expensive) attacks and damage resistance. One of the better basics for Plant-based decks.

Strategy Tip

Another pumped-up basic Plant Pokémon with powerful attacks and no retreat costs. Build him up on the bench, attack, then retreat him for free.

11

Snorlax

90HP

Type: H

12

Vaporeon

80HP

Type: H

Strategy Tip

He's not much in the way of attacks, but he's well-nigh indestructible. Weak attacks but a great wall.

Strategy Tip

Its 80 HP is the best of the three Eevee evolutions. However, the rest of its powers and numbers are less impressive.

13

Venomoth

70HP

Type: H

Strategy Tip

Power shift is a super move, since it lets him get to a weakness and even get by a Pokémon with Grass resistance. Venom Power's not bad either.

14

Victreebel

80HP

Type: H

Strategy Tip

You'll have to go through a lot for what you get. Victreebel doesn't show up as a component of many winning decks.

15

Vileplume

80HP

Type: H

Strategy Tip

Heal is a no-lose power and Petal Dance can be a real power move. You'll wind up with a confused Vileplume, but it's worth it.

16

Wigglytuff

Type: H

Strategy Tip

His best move—Do The Wave—does 60 damage to a full bench. And the 80 Hit Power makes him tough enough.

17

Clefable

70HP

Type: R

Legend

H = Holofoil
R = Rare
UN = Uncommon
C = Common

Strategy Tip

The Jungle evolution of Clefairy has all the good stuff of Clefairy—the Metronome attack mainly—with higher HP and lower energy requirements for the Metronome.

18

Electrode*

90HP

Type: R

*Incorrect graphic appears on this first edition card; image corrected on unlimited cards

Strategy Tip

Players new to the Jungle set will find this Electrode doesn't measure up to the one found in the Basic set of cards.

19

Flareon

70HP

Type: R

Strategy Tip

Love that Flamethrower! There's only one retreat cost, and really solid if happen to have a Dodrio on the bench.

20

Jolteon

40HP

Type: Ultra Rare

Strategy Tip

Jolteon does really well in a Lightning deck—so well, in fact, that you'll undoubtedly want multiples of this card.

21

Kangaskhan

90HP

Type: R

Strategy Tip

Did someone say "Genghis Khan?" Kangaskhan is a great stalker, giving you extra cards in order to fill your hand.

22

Mr. Mime

40HP

Type: R

Strategy Tip

An absolute knockout cleanup hitter. Bring him off the bench until your opponent has a more powerful but damaged Pokémon with no move below 30.

23

Nidoqueen

90HP

Type: R

Strategy Tip

Boyfriends require having Nidoqueen around. Not always smart—Mega Punch is expensive and retreat cost is high. Great potential for inflicting damage on you.

24

Pidgeot

80HP

Type: R

Strategy Tip

Hurricane can win you the game if your opponent has only Pokémon in play.

25

Pinsir

60HP

Type: R

Legend

H = Holofoil
 R = Rare
 UN = Uncommon
 C = Common

Strategy Tip

A very nice combination of strong (but expensive) attacks and damage resistance. One of the better basics for Plant-based decks.

26

Scyther

70HP

Type: R

Strategy Tip

Another pumped-up basic Plant Pokemon with powerful attacks and no retreat costs. Build him up on the bench, attack, then retreat him for free.

27

Snorlax

90HP

Type: R

Strategy Tip

He's not much in the way of attacks, but he's indestructible. Weak attacks but a great wall.

28

Vaporeon

80HP

Type: R

Strategy Tip

Its 80 HP is the best of the three Eevee evolutions. However, the rest of its powers and numbers are less impressive.

29

Venomoth

70HP

Type: R

Strategy Tip

Power shift is a super move, since it lets him get to a weakness and even get by a Pokémon with Grass resistance. Venom Power's not bad either.

30

Victreebel

80HP

Type: R

Strategy Tip

You'll have to go through a lot for what you get. Victreebel doesn't show up as a component of many winning decks.

31

Vileplume

80HP

Type: R

Strategy Tip

Heal is a no-lose power and Petal Dance can be a real power move. You'll wind up with a confused Vileplume, but it's worth it.

32

Wigglytuff

80HP

Type: R

Strategy Tip

His best move—Do The Wave—does 60 damage to a full bench. And the 80 Hit Power makes him tough enough.

33

Butterfree

70HP

Type: UN

Legend

H = Holofoil
 R = Rare
 UN = Uncommon
 C = Common

Strategy Tip

Like Gust of Wind with damage-inflicting potential. With that said, you're better off with the good old blowhard.

34

Dodrio

70HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

A marked improvement over Doduo, Dodrio's Retreat Aid helps save energy for attacking. A good benchwarmer.

35

Exeggutor

80HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

Throw the energy on Exeggutor. Then, flip coins and hope for the best. Don't give up—Exeggutor does have potential.

36

Fearow

70HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

Think of Fearow as a de-powered Raichu that can fly. Drill Peck is a solid-but-expensive power.

37

Gloom

60HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

Useful powers and a low retreat cost. Not the optimum attacker, but he'll do in a pinch.

38

Lickitung

90HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

One of the best walls in the game. Great stalling, with two good attacks.

39

Marowak

60HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

His 60 HP is too low for stage 1 Pokémon with an undependable attack.

40

Nidorina

70HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

Does up to 60 damage with a modest retreat cost. HP are better than Marowak, too.

41

Parasect

60HP

Type: UN

Legend

H = Holofoil
R = Rare
UN = Uncommon
C = Common

Strategy Tip

This evolution isn't too bad if you are looking for colorless attacks.

42

Persian

70HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

Zero retreat cost and good attacks. This colorless line can be thrown into any deck.

43

Primeape

70HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

Will always do damage, at a high energy cost but a modest retreat cost. If you can afford the energy Primeape will definitely deliver.

44

Rapidash

70HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

Very good fire card. He can do 20 or 30 for two colorless, and for two fire and one colorless he does 30, with a 50 percent chance of invincibility — and no discarding attacks.

45

Rhydon

100HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

Ram isn't the killer attack you might think, but 100 HP make him darn near impervious.

46

Seaking

70HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

Think of him as a Scyther with no resistance and higher retreat cost. But don't spend too much time thinking of him.

47

Tauros

640HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

At least 20 damage every time out and an acceptable 60 HP make you want to unleash the bull. Very useful basic Pokémon in attack-weak colorless decks.

48

Weepinbell

70HP

Type: UN

Strategy Tip

Not worth evolving from Bellsprout, which isn't worth having to start with.

49

Bellsprout

40HP

Type: C

Legend

H = Holofoil
 R = Rare
 UN = Uncommon
 C = Common

Strategy Tip

Not much here, but a colorless attack that isn't too bad..

50

Cubone

40HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Snivel is a great stall, particularly against Electric Pokémon. And if it survives, it evolves into the equally useful Marowak.

51

Eevee

50HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Worth having in multiples because of the evolutionary possibilities.

52

Exeggute

50HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Same powers as Jigglypuff in a Plant Pokémon.

53

Goldeen

40HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Magikarp with looks.

54

Jigglypuff

60HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Guaranteed sleep in one Energy makes the Jiggly One a great staller. Good against strong Pokémons.

55

Mankey

30HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

A Pokéman Power that let's you look at your own prizes isn't too bad. But at opponent's Gust of Wind, he is a quick meal with only 30 HP.

56

Meowth

50HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

A basic component of a Colorless deck.

57

Nidoran (F)

60HP

Type: C

Legend

H = Holofoil
 R = Rare
 UN = Uncommon
 C = Common

Strategy Tip

A bench player only if you like what Nidorino and Nidoqueen can do.

58

Oddish

50HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Stun Spore paralyzes and does 10 HP for one Energy. And they multiply like crazy.

59

Paras

40HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Pretty lackluster—not much potential here.

60

Pikachu

50HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Better than the basic-series Pokémons, thanks to higher HP and a wide-ranging Spark attack.

61

Rhyhorn

70HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

No attacks to speak of, but a heck of a defender.

62

Spearow

50HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

Spearow has a resistance to Fighting, 50 HP and zero Retreat Cost—no bad.

63

Venonat

40HP

Type: C

Strategy Tip

This is the start of a powerful evolution. The Venonat/Venomoth line fits into many grass decks.

64

Poké Ball

Type: C

Strategy Tip

If you're lucky with coin flips, this is your card. It's also a good stopgap until you can come up with Computer Search or Pokémon Trader cards.

PoJo's Price Guide

U.S. Cards

1st Edition cards are specially marked with the "Edition 1" stamp to signify their limited print run status. These cards were only available in mass retail for a short period of time and current singles prices reflect that.

"Unlimited" cards do not have the "Edition 1" stamp and are currently still in production.

We are NOT selling cards. These are compiled for clarification of relative values and what you might expect to pay at a game store or collectible dealer for these cards.

No special pricing is given for unique "error" cards (such as yellow-cheek Pikachu or no-damage-Ninetales) because of limited pricing data available and the large quantity of misprints in these sets.

U.S. PROMOTIONAL CARDS

These are compiled for clarification of relative values and what you might expect to pay at a game store or collectible dealer.

$5.00 - Lv12 (Basic Set)

"E3" Pikachu:

This card is a normal "Basic" set (Lv 12) Pikachu (non-foil) card with a small (foil) "E3" stamp below the artwork. It was first released at the 1999 Electronic Entertainment Expo (E3) convention held in Los Angeles (May '99). Later, this card appeared in Nintendo Power magazine's September '99 issue with a much larger distribution.

$6.00 - Lv14 (Jungle Expansion) "W" Pikachu:

This card is a normal Jungle expansion (Lv 14) Pikachu (non-foil) card with a small (foil) "W" stamp below the artwork. This card was first released in The Duelist magazine's September 1999 issue as a promotional insert.

$35.00 - Lv16 Promo Pikachu (1st Edition):

$9.00 - Lv16 Promo Pikachu

This is a (Lv 16) Pikachu (non-foil) card with a small (non-foil) "Promo" (star symbol with the word "Promo") stamp below the artwork.

The 1st Edition version of this card was initially released in Japan as one of two promotional insert cards in Hyper Coro Coro magazine's May (Spring) Issue. Later, the 1st Edition version appeared in random U.S. Jungle booster packs as a miscolored card. Later, this card was released through Wizards of the Coast's official TCG Pokemon League in much larger distribution. Most copies of this card released through the League are not 1st Edition.

$42.00 - Lv Promo Jigglypuff (1st Edition):

This is a (Lv 16) Pikachu (non-foil) card with a small (non-foil) "Promo" (star symbol with the word "Promo") stamp below the artwork.

It was initially released in Japan as one of two promotional insert cards in Hyper Coro Coro magazine's May (Spring) Issue. To date, this card has not been officially released in the U.S., but it may appear as a promotional in the official TCG League (and the value should drop significantly once it is in large distribution.)

Topps Adds New Spin to Pokémon Collecting

Right on schedule, Topps' Pokémon trading cards reached stores in late August.

"They've been selling really well," said Jeff Zapata of Topps. "We're already into the second printing of them and are contemplating a third printing."

The 180-card set (90 regular and 90 foil ones) consists of pictures of Pokémon characters on the front and parody statistics on the back. Of the set's 90 borderless cards, 76 are character cards, showing Charizard, Blastoise, Arcanine and all the other famous pocket monsters (no Mew, though).

Fourteen cards also depict scenes and characters from the Pokémon TV show. And there's added fun with this TV subset: If you put together the backs of nine cards, you'll create a Pokémon puzzle.

What's next for Topps?

The Pokémon movie, of course. Zapata said the company's second series of cards will feature "Pokémon: The First Movie."

And they'll ship in November 1999—the same month as the much-awaited movie's opening.
